MARKETPLACE

Let's grow together

The ability to purchase through your store, a themed marketplace, or a mobile app gives customers a unique experience. Yet you have control over each and every one of the alternatives we covered for client preference.

One server One framework

One big eCommerce network of professionals in digital marketing and sales

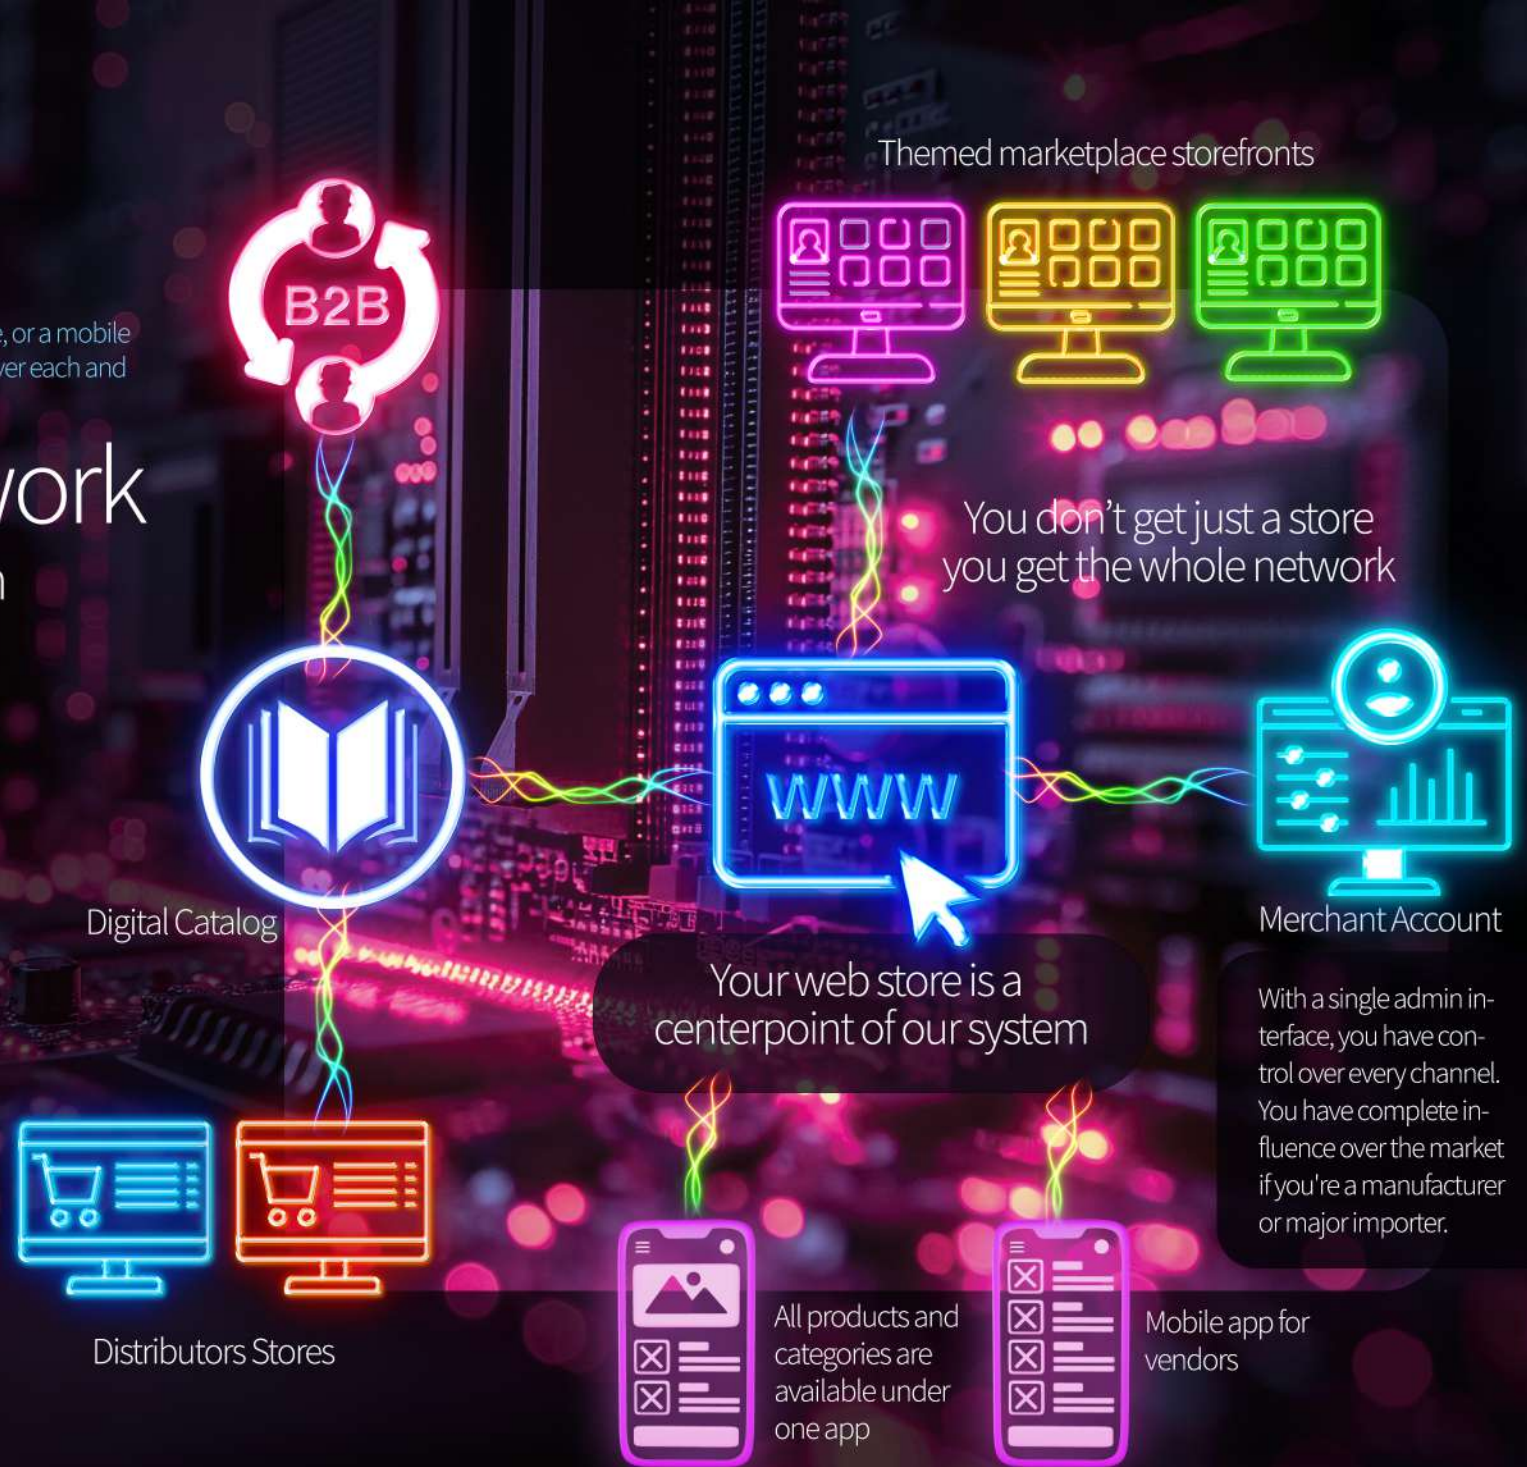

It's the most efficient approach for doing eCommerce and is quite straightforward. We have combined the greatest features from both platforms to create a hybrid that is a cross between your standard stand-alone store and marketplace. As a vendor, you may easily use the system. You set up your merchant account, from which you manage all of your interactions with our platform.

On our platform, we build your store — your brand store — under your domain. That serves as the focal point for all of our marketing activities.

If you are a manufacturer, we will set up a digital catalog for you as soon as you establish your store, which will allow you to access your distribution network. That is when the collaboration will begin.

If you are a distributor, we will arrange your products in one of our twelve themed storefronts when you add items from our digital catalog to your store. Customers can access every product using a single mobile app, or any of your channels.

Customers can access every product using a single mobile app, or any of your channels.

The team behind Connect Marketplace

Core Development

Since Connect Marketplace is a system that is operated from a single server and framework, this is the team that is most crucial to our daily system developments. Every year, we perform five to six significant upgrades, which are reflected in every storefront instance from every vendor. Our internal newsletter keeps customers up to date on updates.

Modules Development Add-ons

Our Modules department is a creative force in our company, developing functionalities on our system to increase customer experience and sales performance. They simplify or improve your ability to present your items, communicate with your clients, and make your offers and promotions more comprehensive and engaging. We already have over 80 modules on our network, and we expect to add over 200 more over the next two years.

Front End Development

These are the people who will set up your store on our platform, making it look great and easy to use. Our front end developers team is also involved when a redesign or upgrade is required.

Assortment Management

This team is committed to entering your product's data, features, photos, and descriptions as accurately as possible while taking SEO guidelines and data importance to customer into account. They will also enable filters and search terms. For successful sales results, having meticulously organised product data is essential. Our team consists of professionals who are skilled at interpreting data structures and integrating them into your store.

www.connect-mart.com

Your store becomes a live entity once we set it up and needs maintenance every day. Seasons, your offers, promotions, new discounted prices, and products all cause the content to change frequently, thus you need a team to maintain the banners, blogs, news, and CMS parts of your ecommerce. It is crucial that this information is updated accurately and on schedule because it informs clients and gives search engines a reason to bring customers to your store

Content Management

Our digital marketing is divided into four major sectors that we cover. SEO marketing collaborates with front-end developers and content managers. This is an important component of our marketing service because we only charge for successful orders, and they ensure that we have a lot of them. The social media department attracts customers from various media channels to your stores, and then we have designer and copywriting teams that create and design content that will be distributed across the network, and they collaborate closely with our Photo & Video department to create the most amazing content for your products.

Marketing

The distribution department ensures that we reach out to you. We already cover three continents, with offices in nine countries, resulting in a very effective network between the United States, Europe, and China.

Distribution

We are proud of our ability to set up your store in a short period of time. We do not code or program your store because everything is ready to run. We simply add a stunning design to your store front.

This is how we build your eStore

We construct instances rather than stand-alone projects, which has numerous benefits.

Prerequisites

Our prerequisites list is basic, yet necessary

- Company Logo or the Book of Standards
- Product List and Price List
- Preferred Categorization
- Payment Processor / Aggregator
- Shipping Carrier/s
- Email address for order correspondence
- List of Administrators

We recommend using our payment method

Applying Design

We bring stunning designs to your store instance

We set up an instance of your store rather than a standalone project and activate all of the necessary modules and extensions, after which we simply add the design to your store so that it appears consistent with your brand.

Store Release

We open your store after finalizing all necessary checks.

Once you have reviewed and approved all of the features on your store, we will begin linking it to social media and other networks and making it available to the public.

This part of creating your store depends on you

Once we have all the information we finish the store within seven workdays.

Our ambitious vision and extensive experience encouraged us to create the most advanced e-commerce platform

Digital Catalog, all you need to partner up

Once your store is up and running

The products you stock in your store may differ from those in the Digital Catalog, but the data is likely to be the same. The primary advantage of creating a Digital Catalog is that it offers exceptional support to your potential partners. This enables them to gain a better understanding of your products and utilize accurate information for advertising purposes. Additionally, maintaining a consistent presentation worldwide is another key benefit of utilizing a Digital Catalog.

Our system tracks availability

Tracing availability across warehouse locations is quite useful for both vendors and consumers to achieve more accurate delivery dates.

We create your Digital Catalog

The Digital Catalog is intended for manufacturers and big or exclusive importers. By creating a Digital Catalog, you can showcase your products to all of the vendors on our platform and in your industry. If they see something they like, they can quickly contact you, and most importantly, they may add desired products to their catalog with a single click.

SELL THIS

SELL THIS

Vendors can easily include your products in their catalog

With a single click, all product information, photos, descriptions, features, and videos are added to the vendor's catalog. All they can change is the prices and logistical information.

Our platform is funded by our efficiency. We work on a sales commission, but it is critical to understand that we do not earn passively simply for your existence on our platform. We work for it, on your marketing. Because your good sales results are the same as ours. Find out what our sales commission covers.

How do we boost your marketing?

It was our objective from the start of this project to have good control over marketing. As a performance-based marketplace, we rely heavily on your sales outcomes. We intended to put our knowledge and expertise that we had collected over time to good use. With us, you can be confident that we know what we're doing and that we're not putting ridiculous amounts on the table while taking no responsibility for the outcomes. Our campaigns

We address four primary marketing channels through our digital marketing department.

SEO Marketing

We provide continuous SEO for your store. Our platform is normally optimized for strong SEO, and when necessary, we boost your store with paid advertisements across the most popular search engines. We use analytics to better understand traffic.

Social Media

We cover your company and your products on social media. We are quite active on our channels, but we can also help with marketing on yours as well. In addition, our Service Store offers numerous possibilities for creating even more appealing content with us.

Design/Copywriting

We create posts and include fascinating subjects for your social media channels, web store blog, and other content. We appreciate staying on track with your company's guidelines and keeping your clients entertained and engaged in your business.

Photo / Video

Please keep in mind that not all of our plans involve video content creation, but those that do will provide you with some truly fantastic videos and animations. Our photographer, on the other hand, will create stunning content for your store and social media to attract customers.

If you notice this logo on our Service Store, it means the service is already covered by the sales commission.

We created 12 primary marketplace storefronts for various industries. This helps us enhance your sales even more with your presence on them and using our own marketing channels as a leverage to the traffic on your merchant account.

Themed storefront marketplaces

Our marketplace platform covers 12 primary industries. Each marketplace helps us attract customers based on a specific product category. We discovered that people prefer to buy from retailers and marketplaces that specialize in a particular industry. As a result, clients who are interested in fashion are more likely to search for fashion-oriented stores and marketplaces, and search engine indexation is generally more explicit about the traffic that leads them in the appropriate direction for those terms. Using one marketplace for all products typically results in being recognized in only one or few categories. In addition, we have a lot more freedom to play with design and functionality.

Your products can appear on three or four different channels on search engines, but they all link to your merchant account.

Perfect user experience

We wanted to provide clients with all of the alternatives and a fantastic purchasing experience. With our platform, a seller not only creates a merchant account, but also establishes a presence on one or more of our themed marketplace platforms, as well as on a mobile app. So a customer can shop directly from the manufacturer or preferred distributor, from a themed marketplace of his choice, or from a mobile app that contains all of our network's products. We provide all of the alternatives.

Running all our stores as instances rather than stand-alone projects offers us amazing knowledge of user preferences, as well as a vast database for quick start results. This definitely gives us an advantage over any other system in the world.

All customers in one spot

The fact that all of our customers are in one database allows us to provide perfect and meaningful perspectives. Our technology monitors their activities and learns their preferences, allowing them to manage the content that interests them. The vendors on our platform achieve quick sales results because their presence on our platform cannot go unnoticed. Customers are notified of new products in the worldwide Connect Marketplace catalog and routed to your store as soon as you are active on our platform.

Once a customer purchases something from your store, they remain in your contacts. We do not withhold information about customers because we have great tools to track their activities. It is literally in your best interests to play fairly on our platform because you gain a lot of valuable analytics, and our system, through various tools that are even AI driven, encourages customers to make more purchases by knowing what their preferences are at the right time.

We provide warm leads from day one

One of the most significant benefits of our system is that by using our platform, all of our registered users automatically become your users. That is, they do not need to register a separate account with you, but may just log in using their existing account information from any other site on our platform. When you join our network, customers are automatically notified of your presence and offer, and they may begin shopping right away. Savings in marketing from the outset are immeasurable.

Every customer has the ability to manage their preferences. GDPR is in effect across Europe. They can view the information we gather and, if necessary, amend it. They can select which companies they want to follow, newsletters they want to receive, and notifications they wish. This can all be changed from our official website at www.connect-mart.com
